INTRODUCTION

1151641

On Wednesday, November 22, 1758, Robert Wells began the publication in Charles Town of The South-Carolina weekly Gazette. With the issue for April 4, 1764, its name was changed to The South-Carolina and American General Gazette. The writer knows of but one paper now in existence between the first issue and the change of its name. That is possessed by Mrs. Charlotte D. Garriss, of Columbia, and is No. 12, Wednesday, February 7, 1759.

The South-Carolina Gazette of Monday, October 8, 1764, contains, under the date line "Charles-Town, October 1. 1764", "A short view of domestic occurrences, &c. since the discontinuance of this Gazette, from the 31st of March last" in which the following account is given of the change of the name of The South-Carolina weekly Gazette to The South-Carolina and American General Gazette:

April 4th, The paper hitherto called the South-Carolina weekly Gazette, appeared under the new and pompous title of "THE SOUTH-CAROLINA AND AMERICAN GENERAL GAZETTE," the king's arms at the head of it was displaced, to introduce a new cut; and the public was advertised, that that paper "was circulated IN ALL the provinces of South-Carolina, North-"Carolina Georgia, East-Florida and West Florida, and sent to every place "of note on the British American continent and to all the islands, also to "Great-Britain and other parts of Europe, so that advertisements published "in it had a very general as well as speady circulation," &c.

The Charleston Library Society possesses a supplement to the issue for Wednesday, April 18, 1764, but its files begin regularly with the issue for Friday, May 30, 1766, being No. 395.

The following issues prior to 1772 are lacking in the Charleston Library Society's file:
